INSPECT DIXON'S SITE FOR COLONY

MEMBERS OF BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION ARE VERY COMPLIMENTARY TO DIXON

WILL DECIDE NEXT WEEK

Vote on Location Will Probably Be Taken Next Monday—Went to Rochelle From Here.

"The site that the Dixon people have chosen and offered to the state for the new epileptic colony is excellent. It is perfect and what is more to the point, it absolutely comes up to all the requirements and answers in detail every single one of the specifications and requirements demanded by the law," thus spoke President Fred J. Kern, the Belleville, Illinois, man who headed the administration board that spent the afternoon in Dixon yesterday inspecting the grounds Dixon has secured an option on with the view of locating the epileptic colony here.

Mr. Kern and his colleagues, Dr. Geo. A. Zeller, Peoria; Thomas O'Connor, Peoria; James H. Hyland, Chicago, and Dr. Frank Whipp, Springfield, all five members of the state board who will decide where the colony will be built, arrived in Dixon at noon yesterday and spent some time touring over the proposed site in autos, accompanied by the local committee. After the inspection they were taken to the Elks' club, where refreshments were served, and they were interviewed. The various members of the board were approached and questioned as to their opinion of the site Dixon offers. To a man they declared themselves to be delighted with everything. They were exceedingly complimentary to Dixon and the surrounding country and seemed to think that there was no other place quite so fine, although of course there is a possibility that their seeming delight with what they found here was merely politeness. All of the gentlemen were very diplomatic and in a way encouraging, although one of them suggested when asked if he saw any reason why Dixon is not the best place for the institution and should not have it, that there are many, many different things which enter into the problem of locating a state institution. His answer was a trifle obscure.

The members of the Dixon committee made a simple statement of facts. They told the board members of the many good points in favor of locating here and gave satisfactory answers to their many questions. They have also prepared a written statement of the details of the proposition Dixon makes and Mayor W. B. Brinton will present these facts to the administration board when it meets in Springfield Monday next.

We Will Know Soon.
The committee left here at 4 p. m. and went to Rochelle, where they inspected a site this afternoon. From there they went to Chicago. There are still several cities to be visited before the board has completed its tour of inspection and immediately after this they will go into executive session in Springfield and take their vote.

It is expected that the vote will be taken next Monday, and it is possible that the name of the lucky city will be announced then, although there is a strong possibility that some of the members may require further data and information or that the board will not be able to agree on any site. It is extremely likely, however, according to the statement of Mr. Kern and other members here yesterday, that Dixon will know some time during the next week whether or not she is to get the colony.

To Invest Three Millions.
The investment the state is going to make in the new hospital is even greater than was at first supposed, for the initial cost is to be a million and a half dollars and later investments will bring it up to three millions of dollars. The hospital must be large enough to accommodate fifteen hundred patients from the start and will be enlarged continuously, for it will be the only epileptic institution in Illinois and must house all afflicted with the disease. Mr. Kern stated yesterday that at this

FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR ANOTHER PIONEER

REMAINS OF MRS. HENRY WARE TO BE LAID TO REST IN OAKWOOD.

The funeral of Mrs. Henry Ware, who passed away at her home, 511 Palmyra avenue, yesterday, at the age of 68 years, 4 months and one day, will be held at the house at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Rev. F. D. Altman officiating. Burial will be at Oakwood.

Louisa Shippert was born in Germany Sept. 26, 1846. At the age of seven she came to America with her parents, who settled in Luzerne Co., Pa., and she made her home there until 1864, when she came to Lee county. She has since resided here. On April 11, 1868, she was united in marriage to Henry Ware and to this union six children were born, one of whom, Anna L., preceded her in death 21 years ago. The surviving children are: Charles W., Nachusa; William H., H. F. and Ida M., Dixon, and Ira W., of Chicago. They, with the sorrowing husband mourn her passing. Beside the immediate family she leaves one sister and two brothers: Mrs. Stephen Uplinger of St. Johns, Pa.; Henry Shippert of Nachusa and Samuel Shippert of Alma, Neb. To all of the sorrowing relatives the condolence of many friends is tendered.

ELECTRIC WORKERS MET IN THIS CITY

AN INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS WAS GIVEN BY H. B. GEAR OF CHICAGO.

About eighty members of the Illinois Northern Utilities company branch of the National Electric Light association gathered at Maccabee hall in this city last evening for the regular monthly meeting of the organization. The feature of the meeting was an address on "The Cost of Electric Service" by H. B. Gear, distributing engineer of the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago. The address was amply illustrated with stereopticon slides, adding greatly to its educational value. Solos by R. W. Freed and W. D. Hart were also enjoyed by those in attendance.

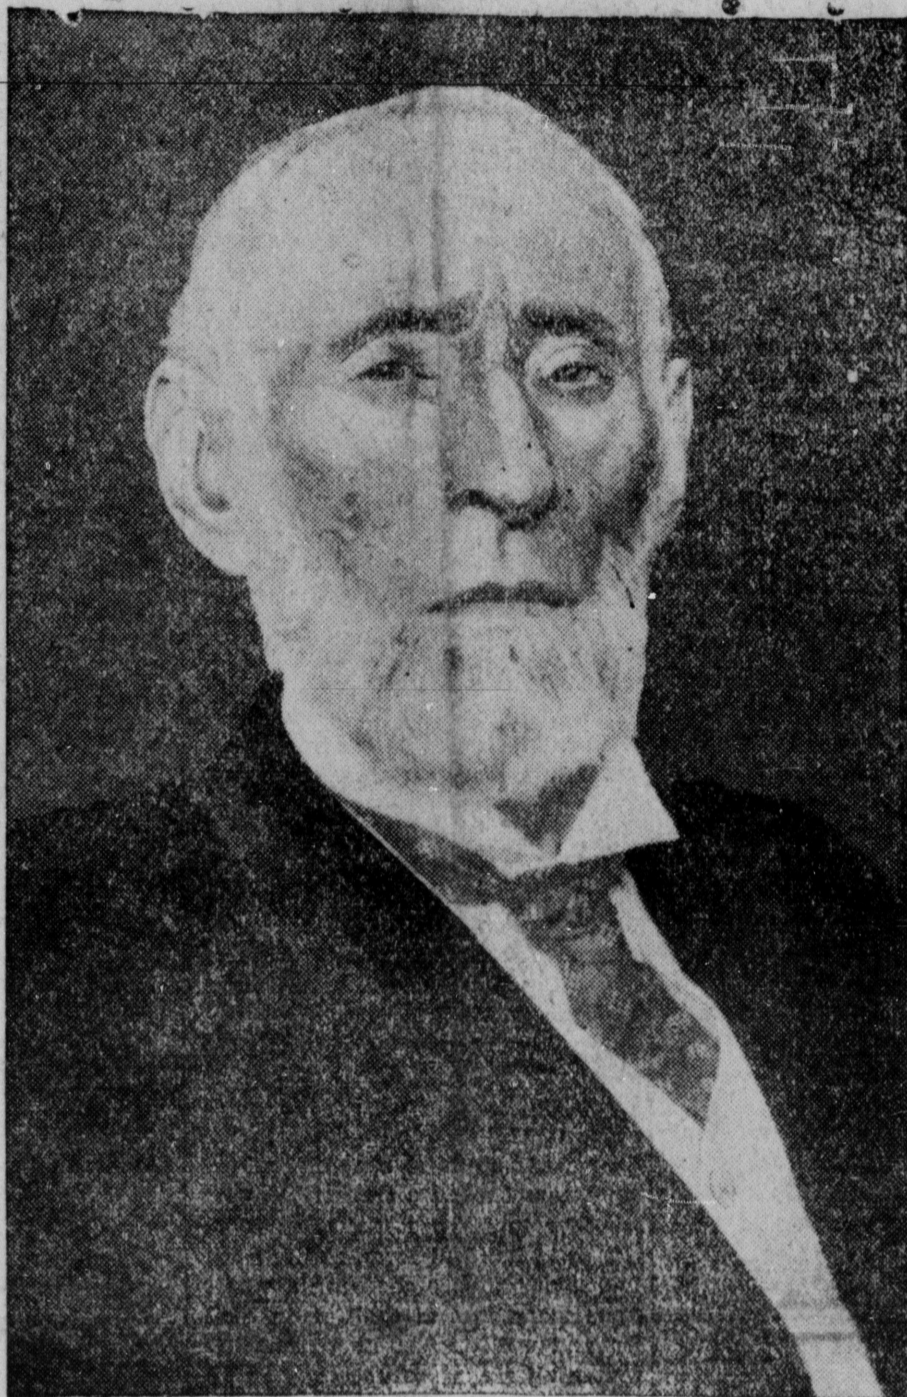

CAPT. J. M. PATTERSON PASSED AWAY MONDAY
Judge Joseph M. Patterson, formerly of Sterling and captain of Co. B of the "Old Thirtieth," passed away Monday evening at his home in Kansas City, Mo., from the infirmities of old age. The funeral was held at Kansas City today. Capt. Patterson was one of the reunions of the Thirtieth which are held here, and was well liked by all members of the regiment.

time there are four hundred children in the city of Chicago who are walking the streets and growing up with absolutely no school education because of the ruling that will not allow epileptics to attend a public school, and private schools do not want them, either. When the colony is established there will probably not be another one like it built in this state for a century.

The visitors said that the drainage, water, land, transportation facilities, topography and all were fine and the president of the board made the statement that at any rate there is not another place in Illinois that is better fitted for location of such an institution. He said that many of the sites that had been offered them were nowhere near up to standard, but that Dixon was. It was apparent from their talk that both Rockford and Freeport were strong competitors.

SHELBY M. CULLOM DIED AT NOON TODAY

FORMER U. S. SENATOR FROM ILLINOIS PASSED AWAY AT WASHINGTON.

HAD A REMARKABLE CAREER

His Record of Fifty-Eight Years as Public Official Was an Envyable One.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—Special to Telegraph—Former Senator Shelby M. Cullom passed away at his home here shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon, the brave spirit giving up the fight after a long, but hopeless battle, continuing since Christmas when a severe cold, contracted during the holiday season, caused him to take to his bed. His loss of strength has been gradual, but heart trouble, old age and complications, rendered the battle unequal and the aged statesman's recovery has been despaired of the last week.

Thus passed the last survivor of a remarkable period in national political history. He was one of the sponsors and founders of the republican party and he held almost every position within the gift of the people.

Born in Kentucky.
Shelby Moore Cullom was born in Wayne county, Ky., Nov. 22, 1829. His parents moved to Tazewell county, Ill., when he was a year old and his father became a member of the legislature and attained prominence as a public man. The future U. S. senator spent two years at the Rock River seminary, Mt. Morris, and in 1853 entered the law office of Stuart & Edwards at Springfield to study law.

He was admitted to the bar in

MRS. MARY BENNETT DIED EARLY TODAY

PASSED AWAY AT KATHERINE SHAW BETHESDA HOSPITAL.

HAD A REMARKABLE CAREER

Mrs. Mary C. Bennett, wife of Benjamin W. Bennett of this city, passed away at the Katherine Shaw Bethesda hospital at 1:30 o'clock this morning, death following an operation for the removal of a tumor with which she had suffered for some time. The funeral services will be held from Morris & Preston's chapel Friday at 2 p. m., Rev. F. D. Stone officiating, and with burial at Oakwood.

The deceased was born in Tennessee Oct. 15, 1860, and was united in marriage to her sorrowing husband Feb. 30, 1884. The family came to Dixon from Macon, Macon county, last spring, and although their residence in Dixon has not been long they have many friends here who will condole with the bereaved husband. Mrs. Bennett was a member of the Court of Honor, while her husband is affiliated with the M. W. A.

DIXON MAN HEADS MANY ASSOCIATIONS

Dixon people will take proud interest in the announcement that Walter M. Wood, son of Mrs. Louise M. Wood of this city, will be tacitly honored at Philadelphia next Saturday when four new Y. M. C. A. buildings, the result of a million-dollar campaign, will be dedicated. Mr. Wood is general secretary of the Philadelphia associations, the position being a very responsible one.

FIRE PREVENTION IS BEING TAUGHT

CORPS OF INSPECTORS WORK IN DIXON BUILDINGS TODAY.

TO REPORT NEEDED CHANGES

Dangerous Conditions Pointed Out to Owners of Properties Inspected.

Dixon was today in the hands of officers and inspectors of the Illinois State Fire Prevention association, 25 members of which spent the entire day here in the interest of a great life and property campaign which is being waged all over this country.

In the body of men who arrived here last night preparatory to the day's work were members of the state fire marshal's department, insurance companies, architects, firemen, etc., and early this morning the public buildings, school buildings and all structures in the business section were thoroughly investigated.

Details of inspectors were assigned to each block, and to the school buildings, and dangerous conditions, hazardous wiring, careless habits and improper fire escapes were eagerly sought for by those who were working.

To Educate People.

The object of this society is to educate the people in such a manner that fire risks will be greatly reduced, and accordingly the owner of every building is furnished with a copy of the changes recommended by the inspectors. A duplicate of these suggestions is turned over to Secretary J. A. Mavon and if information from the building owner to the effect that the requested changes have been made is not received within two weeks a second notice is sent. If at the expiration of another fortnight the required information is not received the matter is turned over to the state fire marshal's department and the property owner is then dealt with according to law.

At the schools the pupils are required to give their fire drills, and if these are not to the satisfaction of the inspectors the superintendent is so informed, while special attention is given to the construction of the school buildings.

Meeting Tonight.

The day's inspection will be completed at 8 o'clock this evening, at which time a meeting will be held at the Elks club to which all members of the Citizens' association and all property owners are invited. The meeting will be in charge of Messrs. Chase and Drice, who will be the speakers, and during the session Secretary Mavon will give a short resume of the work accomplished here. Assistant State Fire Marshal Frank Morgaridge will arrive from Springfield on the evening passenger to be present at this meeting.

NEW BIBLE CLASS AROUSSES INTEREST

BUSINESS MEN WILL MEET AT Y. M. C. A. EACH TUESDAY EVENING.

The new bible class organized at the Y. M. C. A. last evening started with prospects of being one of the most popular classes of its kind ever instituted at the association. Luncheon will be served every evening at 6:05 o'clock, following which the study of the following topics, one on each succeeding week, will be taken up by Rev. S. E. Fisher:

What is the Bible?
What is in the Bible?
The Man in the Book.
The Man and the Book.
What is the Church?
What is Christ's Relation to the Church?
What is Our Need of the Church?
What is the Mission of the Church?

SON BORN.

ANOTHER PACKED HOUSE AT MINSTRELS

AS ON MONDAY EVENING THE PERFORMANCE MOVED SWIFTLY AND EASILY.

ALL DESERVE GREAT CREDIT

Joe E. Tinker Was Additional Feature Last Night—Amboy Tomorrow.

Another large audience, almost as large as the one which greeted the Elks' minstrels at their first performance Monday evening, attended the second and last production at the opera house last evening, and all pronounced it one of the very best local talent performances ever given in the city. The program moved smoothly again last evening and rivaled a professional production for the ease with which it was produced. As usual, all did their part exceedingly well and with the interest that made the show so successful.

A feature of last evening's performance was the stories of Joe E. Tinker, famous shortstop and ball player, who appeared here because of his friendship for Ward Miller of this city. The clever young man told several witty stories, and invited all of his friends to come and see him at the new Federal league ball park in Chicago this summer.

Deserve Great Credit.

Among those who deserve especial credit for the success of the performances, in addition to the performers, are the orchestra and members of the business staff. Especially is this true of Miss Myrtle Fern Rice, who presided at the piano. This talented young lady was at the piano at nearly all of the rehearsals and her ability assisted materially in the preparation and production of the music, which was a feature of the show. The other members of the orchestra exhibited a noticeable interest in the production and put their best efforts into their work in order that every detail might be complete.

The pretty stage settings and complete "props" used in the performances were the result of active work and thorough thoughtfulness on the part of B. F. Downing and George Slothower who, assisted by other members of the company, worked faithfully and hard to make that part of the show a feature.

The work of making up the young "ladies" and gentlemen fell to Miss Dustman, and surely without her experienced handiwork, much of the enjoyment of the performances would have been lost. The members of the business staff are:

Stage manager, John W. Null.
Property manager, B. Frank Downing.

Scenic manager, Geo. Slothower.
Decorator, C. H. Fallstrom.
Advertising solicitor, E. C. Campbell.

Wardrobe mistress, Chas. S. Greig.
Business manager, Charles E. Miller.

Amboy Tomorrow.

The entire performance will be produced at the Amboy opera house tomorrow evening and the indications are that another crowded house, such as greeted the company last year, will reward the efforts of the singers. A special train has been secured to bring the company back to Dixon after the performance, the journey to that city being on the regular southbound 5 o'clock passenger.

Move Acids, Gases and Clogged Waste from Liver and Bowels

Get a 10-cent box now.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. VANDERBILTS ON WRECKED SHIP

Millionaire and Distinguished Party Taken From Disabled Yacht.

SHIP ANSWERS "S.O.S." CALL

Duke and Duchess of Manchester and Lord Falconer Among Those Rescued From Ship on Rocks Off Colombia.

Panama, Jan. 28.—Frederick W. Vanderbilt's yacht Warrior, which has been on a winter cruise in southern waters, was wrecked off the northwest coast of Colombia, between Savanilla and Santa Marta. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt and their guests, the duke and duchess of Manchester and Lord Falconer, were taken off the yacht by the United Fruit steamer Almirante.

The Vanderbilts' staunch cruising yacht, the Warrior, lies pounding on the shore off Cape Agutia, with a steamer of the United Fruit company standing by to take off the crew in case the boat goes to pieces. The yacht is known to have been ashore for hours before her wireless operator received any response to his signals.

The Vanderbilt party was bound for Colon when a heavy storm broke over them. Wrecking tugs have been sent out from Kingston, Jamaica, and Colon, Panama.

Cruise Followed Dinner Party.
The present cruise followed a dinner party at the Ritz-Carlton in New York December 22 in honor of the duke and duchess of Manchester. The latter was formerly Miss Helen Zimmerman of Cincinnati.

Lord Falconer is one of the most talked of and most eligible of the younger generation of English noblemen. He has been reported as wooing a number of the wealthiest of America's heiresses. The last of these affairs concerned Mrs. William B. Leeds. The earl of Kintore has the sporting blood of generations in his veins and offered wagers at odds of two to one that his son would win the heiress before the close of the cruise of a party including Lord Falconer and Mrs. Leeds.

Boat Well Equipped.
He was previously said to have won Mrs. William Hayes Chapman, the wealthy and brilliant young widow of New York.

The Warrior is considered one of the most seaworthy of yachts designed by George L. Watson, famous as a builder of cup challengers.

She carries a full equipment of wireless, submarine signals, life boats and rafts with this equipment, it is doubtful whether the party would have survived in the face of a long storm had not the fruit steamer happened near. The nearest port is Savanilla, and vessels can make it only in calm weather.

FIRM TO TEST NEW LAW

Compensation Act Before Illinois Supreme Court.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—A case involving the validity of the 1913 workmen's compensation law, the first of its kind to be filed, came to the supreme court from Chicago. It is that of Mrs. Amanda E. Courter, guardian of James Randall Courter, against the Simpson Construction company of Chicago. The company asks the court to review a decision of the state industrial board awarding Courter damages for the death of his father from injuries suffered while in the employ of the Simpson company. The petition alleges that under the constitution the court can issue a writ of certiorari only in cases of appeals from courts, whereas a paragraph of section 19 of the new law provides for a review by the court of the proceedings of the industrial board.

SOAP ON YOUR HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF; SCALP GETS DRY, THEN HAIR FALLS OUT

Girls! Get a 25 cent bottle and try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse."

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine, and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of "Knowlton's Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

THE NATURAL LAW

On Friday, Jan. 29, at the Dixon opera house, the National Producing company will offer their new piece, "The Natural Law." This is the latest work of Charles Sumner and is a wonderful play.

Mr. Sumner says "A play to prove popular, and by popular I mean plays liked and patronized by the multitude, must be sound drama, and drama of the most convincing kind. By drama I mean a transcript of life whether in its best form, as it exists or in its ideal form, as life ought to be, and thus embodying a wholesome story that is exalting in quality and uplifting in its effect. Of course all plays are not good or uplifting. Whitehead wrote to Garrie: 'A nation's taste depends on you—perhaps a nation's virtue, too.' And Garrie might have sent it back headed 'To the Public.' The public must help the stage to help the public."

They have lived in Sterling most of their married life and are well known and received congratulations from a large circle of friends. The couple are in the best of health.

Phidian Art Club.
The spring-like weather brought out a large attendance at the Phidian Art club, which was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. W. R. Snyder Tuesday afternoon. After the business, Mrs. Trein read an interesting paper on "Domestic Arts of Spain." The country being very rich in the precious minerals, affords much opportunity for workmanship along those lines and many gold and silver ornaments and chalices, found in the cathedrals are of rare workmanship.

Some of the exquisite jewels of Queen Isabella were described, as well as other works in metal, such as keys to gates of cities, the elegant iron gates, coats of arms, etc. Specimens of wood work, the most noted mentioned being the pulpit in Cordova, which took seven years to complete, of woods inlaid with gold and ivory, in all 36,000 pieces. Mention was made of the glass industry and the beautiful mantillas worn by the Spanish ladies proves that lace making keeps many homes in work.

Prof. Snyder favored the club with a most excellent paper, dealing with trend of these times, in providing more practical courses of study in the schools and quoted some opinions of prominent educators.

The efficiency of education derived from vocational work in the schools was shown by what Germany has accomplished in this way by turning out apprentices in almost every walk of life.

Use of our schools as social centers was touched on, and many improvements, suggestions and changes for our town were pointed out before such work could be accomplished in Dixon.

Mr. Snyder's talk was greatly enjoyed.

After adjournment the hostess assisted by her daughter served dainty refreshments.

A reception will be held at the Presbyterian church parlors tomorrow evening, Jan. 29. The Young Ladies' Auxiliary will tender a reception to the church and congregation. All will be cordially welcomed.

K. C. Dance.
The Knights of Columbus will give a card party and dance at their hall tomorrow evening to which their friends are invited. Refreshments will also be served.

Club Entertains.
The wives of the Railway Mail Clerks of this city entertained their husbands and out of town guests last evening at the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Croson, 317 E. Everett street.

The out of town guests were Nate Gebhardt, Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Sensenbaum Rock Falls; John Whetston, Steward; Miss Lillian Menz, Rock Falls; Walter LeValley, Logan, Ia.

A tempting four course luncheon was served, the tables decorated with being in pink. Pink shades and candles and pink carnations and smilax were effectively used in the decorations.

After luncheon, which was thoroughly appreciated and accordingly demonstrated, a social evening was spent. Nate Gebhardt contributed to the pleasure of the company in rendering several vocal solos, accompanied at the piano by Miss Menz. Mrs. Geo. Graves gave several readings which were applauded. After a social and entertaining evening the happy gathering dispersed, with the cemetery. The body will be taken directly from the train to the cemetery.

SNOW BETRAYS FLEEING GIRLS

TWO FUGITIVES FROM GENEVA SCHOOL QUICKLY CAPTURED

The fall of snow Sunday prevented the escape from the Geneva home of Viola Thompson of Central, Ill., and Clara Jort of McLean county. Their absence was discovered shortly after they had left Fabian cottage. By tying sheets and sliding down from a balcony they got out of the building but their feet left tracks that enabled the pursuers to locate them in a box car on the Northwestern railroad in front of the institution buildings in a few minutes.

After the girls were taken from the car, Miss Thompson looked at the name of the railroad and saw that it read "T. P. & W."

"No wonder we were captured. We should have noticed the initials before getting in the car. It means, 'Take Pains and Walk.'" Then she looked again and saw that the car number was 1313. "I am willing to return," she said.

The Thompson girl was committed for any vicious or criminal act. She is an orphan and has long been in the Fabian cottage, where the 'honor girls' are kept.

Both Pleaded Illness
The Thompson girl asked to be excused from the study hour, saying she was ill. She was allowed to go to her room. A short time later Miss Jort asked to be excused so she could go to her room and get some medicine. She did not return and an investigation was made and neither girl was found in bed.

ERUPTION ON ANKLE GREAT SUFFERING

Many Nights Did Not Sleep. Burned
All the Time. Wore Bandage
Night and Day. Used Cuticura
Soap and Ointment. Now Well.

Kingsville, Mo.—"My trouble began eighteen years ago. Nearly half of the time there were running sores around my ankle; sometimes it would be two years at a time before they were healed. There were many nights I did not sleep because of the great suffering. The sores were deep running ones and so sore that I could not bear for anything to touch them. They would burn all the time and sting like a lot of bees were confined around my ankle. I could not bear to scratch it, it was always so sensitive to the touch. I could not let my clothes touch it. The skin was very red. I made what I called a cap out of white felt, blotting paper and soft white cloth to hold it in shape. This I wore night and day.

"I tried many remedies for most of the eighteen years with no effect. Last summer when my ankle had been sore for over a year and much worse than ever before I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It would itch and burn, besides a great hurting that I think tongue could never explain. The very first time I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment I found relief; they relieved the pain right then. It was three months from the time I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment until the sores were entirely healed. I have not been troubled since." (Signed) Mrs. Charles E. Brooke, Oct. 22, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

*Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

PAVEMENTS ARE CAREFULLY CONCEALED.

In several places where much money was spent last year on fine new brick pavements the casual observer would never guess we had any. There are several places where the pavements are beautifully hidden under several inches of mud and filth, and the traveler using them might as well be out on a country road as far as appearances are concerned.

When the city buys the street flusher they have been contemplating the purchase of for some time, it will be possible to keep every block of pavement in the city in a fine clean condition. Let us hope and pray that the time is drawing near.

Now that the Elks' Minstrel and its attendant rehearsals are over for the season the Bills will have a chance to get acquainted with their wives and sweethearts again, or else they will have to exercise their imagination sufficiently to figure out a new excuse for going down town evenings.

FIRE PREVENTION IN PRIVATE HOMES.

The coming of the Illinois Association for the Prevention of Fire to Dixon should be a help not only in the business section of town and in the manufacturing institutions, but in all the homes. The inspectors do not visit the homes, but their activities in the downtown part of the city will have a more far-reaching influence.

Statistics show that in the United States the loss from fire yearly are from five to eight times as great as the countries in Europe. The reason for this vast difference is the flimsy material and hasty workmanship put into buildings and the carelessness of the occupants.

Defective chimneys, poor electric wiring, improperly protected stoves and pipes, promiscuous throwing around of matches, cigar and cigarette stubs, dumping of ashes from the stoves and furnaces and many other things that could be prevented or remedied cause the majority of fires and millions of dollars go up each year in smoke to the accompaniment of the clanging fire bell, all needlessly.

When the time comes that people are either forced by law or are taught by bitter experience that such carelessness is absolutely criminal, fire losses will be reduced to a minimum.

COMMISSION FORM WORKS OUT SPLENDIDLY.

Once in awhile we get a query from some other city asking us how the commission form of government is working in Dixon. We write back and tell them it is the finest thing that ever happened to Dixon, and we are sincere in that belief. With good, conscientious men such as we have in office at present, men who have a genuine loyalty for Dixon and who are not simply politicians, but are vitally interested in the city's welfare, the commission form of government is the finest thing in the world. We can see how it might not work to satisfaction if the right kind of men were not in office, but Dixon's experience so far has been mighty satisfying and exceedingly productive of good. We have something to show for the money we have spent. With all due respect to past administrations, Dixon has never been run on a more business-like plan nor has there ever been a time when more real improvements have been put in during a stated period than during the past few years, since the commission form went into effect. The city is operated upon a more economical plan than heretofore. The commissioners are, we believe, doing all they can for the city's betterment and, although there are still many things that need to be done, the officials themselves want as badly as anyone to see them, and when they can get around to it, they will take up each subject in its turn.

Home Sweet Home

By WALT MASON

Oh, Home! It is a sacred place—or was in olden days, before the people learned to chase to moving picture plays; to tango dances and such things, to skating on a floor; and now the youthful laughter rings within the Home no more. You will recall, old men and dames, the homes of long ago, and you'll recall the fireside games the children used to know. The neighbors' kids would come along with your own kids to play, and merry as a bridal song the evening passed away. An evening spent away from home in olden days was rare; the children hadn't learned to roam for pleasure everywhere. But now your house is but a shell where children sleep and eat; it serves that purpose very well—their home is on the street. Their home is where the lights are bright, where rag-time music flows; their noon's the middle of the night, their friends are—Lord, who knows? The windows of your home are dark, and silence broods o'er all; you call it Home—God save the mark! 'Tis but a sty or stall!

1855 and was almost immediately elected city attorney of Springfield. In 1865 he was a candidate on the Filmore ticket for presidential elector and at the same time a member of the 20th general assembly. He was re-elected in 1860, and was elected speaker of the house, his first political recognition.

In 1862 he was appointed a member of the war claims commission, serving in that capacity with Gov. Boutwell of Massachusetts and Chas. A. Dana of New York. At that time he was a candidate for the state senate, but was defeated. Two years later he was elected to congress and was re-elected in 1866 and 1868. As chairman of the Illinois delegation to the national republican convention of 1872 he placed Gen. Grant in nomination for the presidency.

In 1876 he was elected governor of Illinois and was re-elected in 1880. In 1883 he was chosen United States senator and served continuously in that capacity until last March. As a member of the United States government Senator Cullom was a tower of strength, his career being conspicuous for his long public service, the large number of public offices he has held, the uniformity of his success as a candidate and his complete exemption from scandal of any kind.

Since he retired from the senate last March he has served as the resident commissioner in the body which has supervision of the Lincoln memorial. He has worked hard to hasten the construction of the $2,000,000 monument congress authorized as the result of his unceasing efforts to obtain a fitting memorial to Lincoln.

In the opinion of his friends it is to the discouragement he encountered in seeking to initiate the work of construction that his failure to recuperate from his illness is largely due.

It has been the ambition of Mr. Cullom to see the erection of the memorial begun even if he did not live to see the work completed.

OBITUARY

J. P. BYRD

Scarboro, Jan. 26.—In the passing of J. P. Byrd, Lee county has been called on to mourn the death of one of her very oldest citizens. Mr. Byrd was one of the pioneer settlers of Illinois, locating here in 1856.

Mr. Byrd has always led a very quiet life, devoting his entire time to his work and family, yet there is probably not a farmer in Lee county who is better known or has more friends than he had.

In manner Mr. Byrd was quiet and firm, though ever kind and ready to help anyone in trouble. These qualities along with unimpeachable integrity, have won for him the confidence of all who knew him.

Jacob P. Byrd was born in 1836, in Romney, Va., and died at his home near Scarboro, Jan. 21, '14.

In 1872 he was married to Catharine Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrd had born to them nine children, four boys and five girls. Three boys and four girls are living. The children were all present at the funeral except one daughter, who resides in Virginia.

The community all join in extending to the wife and children their heartfelt sympathy.

END RAIL FAVORS TO BIG CONCERNS

Interstate Commerce Body Bars "Allowances" and Special Services.

ARE REGARDED AS REBATES

Held Disadvantage to Small Plants and Costing Roads Millions Each Year—All Firms Must Be Treated Alike.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Millions of dollars paid annually to great industrial plants—so-called trusts—by railroad systems in the form of "allowances," or special services, were held by the interstate commerce commission to be unlawful and unreasonable preferences; in fact, unlawful rebates, operating to the disadvantage of smaller manufacturing concerns throughout the country.

Elimination of demurrage on "industrial lines" owned by the manufacturing plants and claiming to be common carriers, the admission of such industrial lines to the benefits of the so-called "per diem arrangements," and other practices, were condemned as unlawful. The commission held that if they should be determined as lawful, they should be extended to all shippers.

Railroads Are Warned.

Pointing out that the practices condemned dissipated the revenues of the great railroads to the extent of millions of dollars each year, the commission made a significant reference in its decision to the present movement among the eastern railroads for an increase in freight rates.

"Before they may fairly ask the general public to share further in carrying their burdens, it is manifest that the railroads must themselves properly conserve their sources of revenue by making every service performed contribute reasonably to their earnings."

233 Plants on a Single Line.

The decision further points out that allowances paid to and free services performed for large industrial plants relieve them of a heavy expense they would otherwise have to bear as part of their manufacturing costs, and adds that on the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh alone there are 233 such plants where the railroad performs services free.

Such allowances, the decision says, "are an example of the special concessions and rebates in service that shippers with a large traffic are able to wring from the carriers in consideration of being permitted to handle the traffic or share with other lines in its carriage."

"If allowances and free services may, on any ground, be justified and found to be lawful," says the decision, "they will be claimed and must in the

BOMB THROWN IN STRIKE

Soldiers Narrowly Escape Injury When Dynamite Is Fired.

Walsenburg, Colo., Jan. 28.—Camp Walsenburg was thrown into great excitement when a bomb thrown from a coal chute of the C. & S. railroad exploded within twenty feet of the regimental headquarters and endangered the lives of Colonel Verdeckberg, Captain Long and four regimental clerks. The roar of the explosion was heard all over the city. Dozens of persons rushed to the scene. The bomb contained three sticks of dynamite.

Captain Dailey, officer of the day, was making his rounds of the guard lines when the bomb was thrown. An armed man was arrested, who it is believed hurled the bomb.

House Authorizes Probe of Colorado and Michigan Conditions.

Washington, Jan. 28.—A thorough investigation of strike conditions in the coal fields of Colorado and the copper district of Michigan was authorized by the house. The investigation will be confined to the coal fields of Colorado in the counties of Las Animas, Huerfano, Fremont, Grand, Routt, Boulder and Weld and to the copper mines of Michigan in the counties of Houghton, Keweenaw and Ontonagon.

THE NE'ER-DO-WELL

A Romance of the Panama Canal
BY REX BEACH

COPYRIGHT, 1910, 1911, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

SYNOPSIS.

Kirk Anthony, son of a rich man, with college friends, gets into a fracas in a New York resort. A detective is hurt. Jefferson Locke insinuates himself into the college men's party.

Locke, aided by Kirk's friend Higgins, who thinks it a joke, drugs Kirk and puts him aboard a ship bound for Colon. Kirk is on the passenger list as Locke.

"Broke" and without baggage, aboard the ship Kirk makes the acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cortlandt.

Cortlandt is in the American diplomatic service and is going to Panama on a mission. In Colon Kirk, as the son of a big railroad man, is taken up by Weeks, American consul.

Kirk's father repudiates him, and Weeks casts him out as an impostor. Kirk meets Allan, a Jamaican canal worker out of a job. The two are arrested by Colon police for helping to put out a fire.

CHAPTER VI. The Reward of Merit.

Soon after Kirk's second return to the park the concert ended, the crowd melted away, and he found himself occupying a bench with a negro of about the same age as himself. For perhaps an hour the two sat there hearkening to the dying noises of the city; then Kirk, unable to endure the monotony longer, turned sharply on his companion and said:

"Why don't you go home?"

"Oh, boss, I got no home!"

Kirk reflected that he had found not only the right place, but also fitting company for his vigil.

"What does a person do in that case?" he asked.

"Oh, he goes to work, sar!"

"For the night, I mean. Are you going to stay here until morning?"

"Yes, sar, if the policeman will b'admit of it."

The fellow's dialect was so strange that Kirk inquired, "Where did you come from?"

"Jamaica, sar. I was born on the north coast of the island, sar."

"Did you just arrive here?"

"Oh, Lard, no! I have been a liver here for two year. Sometimes I labor on the docks, again in the h'office. Lard week lose I my position, and today my room h'also. Landladies is bad females, sar, very common."

"Well, it seems we're in the same boat this beautiful evening. I have no place to sleep, either."

"Oh, choi me true, mon."

"I am chatting you true. I'm an outcast of fortune like yourself."

"Such talk! You make I laugh this house. Praise God, you h'appear like a gentleman."

"I trust this little experience will not permanently affect my social standing. By the way, what is your name?"

"It's Allan."

"Allan?"

"No, sar—b'Allan."

"Is that your first or last name?"

"Both, sar—b'Allan b'Allan."

"Mr. Allan Allan, you're unusually dark for a Scotchman," said Kirk gravely. "Now, speaking as one gentleman to another, do you happen to know where we can get a hand-out?"

"And-out?" inquired the puzzled negro.

"Yes; a lunch. Can't you lead me to a banana vine or a breadfruit bakery? I'm starving. I must get something into my stomach—it's as flat as a wet envelope."

The Jamaican rose, saying: "Step this way, please. I know the place where a very good female is. Perhaps she will make us a present."

"How far is it?"

"Oh, not too far," Allan replied optimistically, and Kirk hopefully followed him.

But at the opposite side of the square they were halted by a sudden commotion which drove all thoughts of food out of their minds. From a building across the street issued a bugle call, upon which an indescribable confusion broke forth. Men began running to and fro; a voice in authority shouted orders, each of which was the signal for another bugle call. Through the wide open doors the Panamanians could be heard, scurrying around a horse cart, apparently in search of clothes.

"Oh, look, boss!" Allan cried quickly. "There must be a 'flagration'."

"It's a Spigotzy hose company, as I fire. Come on!"

Already a glare could be seen above the crowded portion of the city, and the two set off in that direction at a run, leaving the bugle sounding in the rear and the militant firemen still wrestling with their uniforms. They had nearly reached the fire when around a corner back of them, with frightful speed and clangor, came a modern automobile fire truck, clinging to which was a swarm of little brown men in red shirts and helmets. Without a pause the Yankee machine whizzed to up the street, its gong clanging, its occupants holding on for dear life, the peaceful inhabitants of Colon fleeing from its path.

Kirk and his guide fell in behind and jogged to the scene of the conflagration.

A three storied building was already half gutted. Out of its windows roared long, fiery tongues. The structure snapped and volleyed a chorus to the sullen monotone of destruction. The street was littered with the household belongings of the neighborhood. On all sides was a bedlam which the arrival of the firemen only augmented. The fire captain shouted orders to the buglers, the buglers blew feebly upon their horns, the companies deployed in obedience to the buglers. Then everybody waited for further directions.

Again the trumpet sounded, whereupon each fireman began to interfere with his neighbor. A series of quarrels arose as couplings were made or broken. Then, after an interminable delay, water began to flow as if by a miracle; but, except in rare instances, it failed to reach the flames. A ladder truck, drawn by another excited company, now rumbled upon the scene, its arrival adding to the general disorder. Meanwhile the steady trade wind fanned the blazes to ever growing proportions.

"Why the devil don't they get closer?" Kirk inquired of his Jamaican companion.

"Oh, Lard, my God, it is too 'ot, sar, greatly too 'ot! It would take a stout 'eart to do such a thing."

"Nonsense! They'll never put it out this way. Hey!" Kirk attracted the attention of a nearby nozzlemann.

"Walk up to it. It won't bite you."

But the valiant fire fighter held stubbornly to his post, while the stream he directed continued to describe a graceful curve and spatter upon the sidewalk in front of the burning building.

"You're spoiling that old woman's bed," Anthony warned him, at which a policeman with drawn club forced him back as if resentful of criticism.

For perhaps ten minutes there was no further change in the situation. Then a great shout arose as it was seen that the roof of an adjoining building had burst into flame. At this the fanfare of trumpets sounded again. Firemen rushed down the street, dragging a line of hose and drenching the outlookers. But, despite their hurry, they halted too soon, and their stream just failed to reach the blazing roof.

By now the heat had grown really intense, and the more hardy heroes in the vanguard repeated to less trying positions. The force of the crowd had arisen to a war rivaling that of the flames.

Kirk pointed to the nearest fireman. "If he'd get up under that wall he could save the roof and be out of the heat. I can't stand this. Let's give him a hand, Allan."

"Very well, sar."

"Here! Help me get a kink in this hose. There! Now you hold it until you feel me pull." Kirk forced his way out through the crowd to find the fireman holding the nozzle, from which a feeble stream was dribbling, and mechanically directing it at the fire.

Kirk laid hold of the canvas and, with a heave, dragged it along with its rightful guardian ten feet forward. But there had been no huge blown order for this, and the uniformed man pulled backward with all his might, chattering at Kirk in Spanish.

"Well, then, let go," Anthony shook the Panamanian loose, then ran forward across the street until he brought up at the end of the slack and felt the hose behind him writhe and swell as Allan released his hold. The next instant the negro was at his side, and the two found themselves half blistered by the heat that rolled out upon them. But the newly ignited roof was within range, and the stream they played upon it made the shingles fly.

The firemen they had despoiled began to drag at the hose from a safe distance, but when Kirk made as if to turn the nozzle upon him he scampered away amid the jeers of the crowd. A few moments later the American felt a hand upon his arm and saw an angry policeman who was evidently ordering him back. Behind him stood the excited nozzlemann with two companions.

"He says you should return the hose where you found it," Allan translated.

"Leave us alone," Kirk replied. "You fellows help the others. We'll attend to this." More rapid words and gesticulations followed, in the midst of which a dapper young man in a uniform somewhat more impressive than the others dashed up, flung himself upon Anthony and endeavored to wrench the hose from his hands.

Meanwhile he uttered epithets in broken English which the other had no difficulty in understanding. Kirk promptly turned the nozzle upon him and the full force of Colon's water pressure struck him squarely in the stomach, doubling him up like the kick of a mule. Down the newcomer went then half rolled, half slid across the street as the stream continued to play upon him.

"I guess they'll keep away now," laughed Kirk, as he turned back to his self appointed task.

But an instant later a half dozen policemen advanced in a businesslike manner, and their leader announced, "Come, you are under arrest!"

"Pinched—what for? We're doing a lot of good here."

"Come, queeck!"

"Oh, Lard, my God!" Allan mumbled. "I shall die and kill myself!"

"They won't do anything to us," Kirk assured him. "I've been pinched lots of times. We'll have to quit, though, and that's a pity. It was just getting good."

He surrendered the hose to a fireman, who promptly retreated with it to a discreet position, then followed his captors, who were now buzzing like bees.

"Don't get excited," he said to Allan, noting his frightened look. "They'll turn us loose all right."

But a moment after they were clear of the town he was surprised to see that the negro's captors had snapped "come along" upon him in spite of his repeated promises to go quietly. These handuffs, Kirk saw, were of the type used upon desperate criminals, consisting of chains fitted with handles so contrived that a mere twist of the officer's hand would cut the prisoner's flesh to the bone. The men on each side of the Jamaican twisted stoutly, forcing the black boy to cry out in pain. He hung back, protesting:

"All right, sar, I'll come. I'll come."

But again they tightened their instruments of torture and their victim began to struggle. At this an evil faced man in blue struck him brutally upon the head with his club, then upon the shoulders, as if to silence his groans. The boy flung up his manacled hands to shield himself, and the light from a street lamp showed blood flowing where the chains had cut. The whole proceeding was so unprovoked, so sickening in its cruelty, that Kirk drew into a fury and, disregarding his own captors, leaped forward before the policeman could strike a third time. He swung his fist and the man with the club hurtled across the street as if shot from a bow, then lay still in the gutter. With another blow he felled one of the handcuff men, but at the same time other hands grasped at him and he was forced to lay about vigorously on all sides.

They rushed him with the ferocity of mad dogs, and he knocked them spinning, one after another. A whistle blew shrilly, other uniforms came running, more whistles piped and almost before he realized it he found himself in the center of a pack of lean faced brown men who were struggling to pull him down and striking at him with their clubs. With a sudden wild thrill he realized that this was no ordinary street fight; this was deadly; he must beat off these fellows or be killed. But, as fast as he cleared them away, others appeared as if by magic, until a dozen or more were swarming upon him like hungry ants. Time and again they dragged him off his feet, only to have him shake them loose. But he was felled at last, and a moment later, with head reeling and wits flickering, he was dragged to his knees by handcuffs like those on Allan's wrists. The pain as the chains bit into his flesh brought him to his feet despite the blows and kicks that were rained upon him, crying hoarsely:

"Let me go, confound you! Let me go!"

But a wrench at the gyves took the fight out of him, for he felt that the bones in his wrists must surely be crushed. One side of his head was strangely big and numb. A warm stream trickled down his cheek, but he had no time to think of his condition for his assailants fell upon him with fresh fury and he recoiled about, striving to shield himself. Every movement, however, was construed as resistance, and his punishment continued, until at last he must have fainted from pain or had his wits scattered by a blow on the head, for when he recovered consciousness he found himself in a filthy, ill lighted room, flung upon a wooden platform that ran along the wall, evidently serving as a bed. Near him Allan was huddled, his black face distorted with pain and ashen with apprehension.

"Where are we?" queried Anthony as he took in the surroundings.

"This is the prison, sar."

"Gee! I'm sick," Kirk lay back upon the platform and closed his eyes. "Did they hurt you much?"

"Oh, yes. Very considerably."

"Sorry I got you into it, Allan. I never thought they'd be so cranky."

Again he groaned. "I want a drink."

"Let me get it. Those Spigotzyes will not give it to you."

Allan went to the door and called to the guard. An instant later he returned with a tin cup.

"I guess they knocked me out," Kirk said dazedly. "I never was hit like that before—and jalled! Say! We must get out of here. Call the chief of the man in charge. Will you? I can't speak the language."

"Please, sar, if you h'anger them they will beat us again."

"Best! Not here?"

"Oh yes. They might kill us."

"They wouldn't do that!"

"A white man they killed last h'antumn, and several of my people have passed away in this prison. Nobody can 'ear nothing. Nobody knows what 'appears 'ere."

"Oh, well, they wouldn't dare touch us—I'm an American citizen. I'll notify the consul."

Roused at the mere suggestion, Kirk staggered to the door and shouted insistently. A sergeant appeared with the command to be quiet.

"Let me out of here!" he yelled, demanding the prisoner. "I want the chief, or the alcalde, or somebody in charge. I want to know what I'm booked for. I want to telephone—telephone, don't you understand—and arrange bail. Quick, now!"

But the officer merely frowned at him, obviously threatening a resort to force if this outburst did not cease at once. Then he went away. An hour passed, and he did not return. Then another hour followed, and Anthony, who had now begun to feel the effect of his drubbing more keenly, renewed his clamor, with the result that a half dozen policemen appeared. From their demeanor it looked as though they were really bent upon mischief, but Kirk soon saw that an official had come in answer to his call. He felt less reassured when he perceived that the person in uniform who now stepped forward was the same upon whom he had turned the hose earlier in the evening.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back
Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. ... writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help."

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui.

The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways.

Try it.

Chinese Women Students Here.

The first Chinese women to come to America as students under the Boxer indemnity fund arrived early this year, together with 26 young Chinese men, also coming under the same provision of the Chinese government. Some of the parties remained in universities of the west, but six students went on to New York to pursue their studies in that city.

The 28 successful candidates for western education were selected out of 300 competitors in Canton last July. The two young women and eight of the men were students at Canton Christian college.

Mexican War.

In the Mexican war of the forties, the Mexicans did not win a single battle, notwithstanding the fact that they invariably outnumbered the United States forces and always had the advantage of the position. No charge of cowardice was ever brought against their leaders. On the contrary, they stood up to the music in fine shape, and, so far as courage was concerned, came out of the struggle with honor.

But they did not seem to be able to stand up successfully before the Americans. Not once did they whip their cool-headed invaders.

Tin is not found in nature in the metallic state. The chief source of the metal is stonstone, an oxide, which occurs sometimes nearly pure, but more frequently mixed with other minerals, to get rid of which complicated and tedious processes are necessary. The stonstone is crushed, and washed to remove mechanically the lighter portions of rock with which it is mixed, and after further purification it is placed in a reverberatory furnace with anthracite or charcoal and a small quantity of lime; the oxide is thus reduced, and the liquid metal, together with the slag, consisting of silicate of lime, falls to the lower part of the furnace. The blocks of tin, still impure, are then refined by gradually melting out the pure tin, leaving an impure alloy behind.

Old Irish Newspaper.

The Freeman's Journal, the leading newspaper of Nationalist Ireland, recently published its third jubilee number, having been founded in 1763. It was a twelve-column small sheet when it came out in the days of Flood and Grattan; the triple jubilee number consists of 40 large pages, comprising 320 columns, and 132 times the size of the first issue. Save for one brief, inglorious, and unluckily interval, says The Freeman, reviewing its history, the newspaper since 1763 has been at the service of the Irish people and the Irish cause. With Grattan it sat by the cradle of the Irish constitution; unlike Grattan, it has survived to salute the glorious resurrection of that great constitution.

Boy's Pathetic Suicide.

The suicide of a boy, fourteen years old, occurred at Glasgow, not long since. The young victim, Thomas Sproull, went home on a recent night and his mother saw that something was troubling him. He told his mother that his employer had threatened to dismiss him unless he paid up a customer the day before. After taking his supper the boy got a piece of string from a ball in the kitchen, and went into the bedroom. Some time later he was found there by a younger brother in a leaning position, with the string in a loop round his neck, and the other end attached to the frame of a bed.

Seven-Year-Old Nun.

An interesting and pathetic ceremony was held the other day at the famous Buddhist temple called Zen-koji in Nagano. Little Yachi Ogura, the seven-year-old daughter of Viscount Ogura, took orders as a nun. She was dressed for the ceremony in a long sleeved purple kimono of crepe and a purple skirt. During the ceremony numerous priests and priestesses recited prayers. The abbess whose heiresse the little girl becomes, perfumed a razor in the smoke of incense and shaved off the young girl's beautiful hair. The latter all the time held her palms together in the most reverential manner and kept repeating the old Buddhist prayer, "Nana Amida Butsu (Hall Savior Buddha). When the ceremony was over she put on the simple costume of a nun and she is now known by a new name Chikoni.

WHY WOMEN SUFFER

Many Dixon Women Are Learning the Cause

Women often suffer, not knowing the cause.

Backache, headache, dizziness, nervousness.

Irregular urinary passages, weakness, languor—

Each a torture of itself.

Together hint at weakened kidneys. Strike at the root — get to the cause.

No other remedy more highly endorsed than Doan's Kidney Pills. Recommended by thousands—Endorsed at home.

Here's convincing testimony from a Dixon citizen.

Miss Della McGrail, 503 College Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "I don't hesitate to publicly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills, for I found them to be just as good as represented. My kidneys were out of order and I had pain through my back and sides. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. They gave me a permanent cure."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss McGrail had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29th.

To Dixon Theatregoers. This is one of the greatest attractions of the season. Governor Fierhart of Minnesota who witnessed the initial performance, gave it his unequalled endorsement, as did the leading clergymen and physicians of the state. Patrons of the Dixon Opera House can be assured that "THE NATURAL LAW" is a play that appeals to every right thinking man and woman and is in no sense suggestive or immoral. Signed, E. S. LION SLAYS MOVIE OPERATOR

Fritz Schindler Loses Life Taking Pictures in African Jungle.

Nairobi, British East Africa, Jan. 28.—Fritz Schindler, an American moving picture operator, died as the result of being attacked by a wild lion. He was photographing. Schindler's daring was responsible for his death. He had accompanied Paul Rainey, the American millionaire adventurer, on his expedition in the African jungle and had faced death many times. When Rainey was leaving the country he expressed the hope that he would get a picture of a charging lion within ten feet of the camera. Schindler saw an opportunity to fulfill Rainey's wish. The lion kept getting closer and closer to the camera and Schindler stuck to his machine. He was unable to get out of the lion's way and was badly wounded. He was taken to a hospital here, where he died. No other members of the expedition were injured.

President of American Federation of Labor Celebrates Day.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary by working a large part of the time at his office, reading messages of congratulation from all parts of the world. In the evening Mr. Gompers attended a banquet in his honor given by the local Central Labor union. President Wilson sent a letter of regret that he could not attend the banquet and extended hearty congratulations. Secretaries Daniels and Wilson, Speaker Champ Clark, Senators Martine and Hughes of New Jersey and Sheppard of Texas, and Representatives Fitzgerald of New York, Rainey and Foster of Illinois and others attended the banquet.

SEEKS TO MERGE UNIONS

United Mine Workers of America Take First Step.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 28.—The proposition for the consolidation of the United Mine Workers of America and the Western Federation of Miners was given a working basis by the mine workers' convention here. The international executive board was empowered to appoint a committee to meet with a similar committee from the Western Federation to discuss the amalgamation and, if a plan should be agreed upon, to submit it to the miners for a referendum vote.

Press Union for Federal Employees. Washington, Jan. 28.—A general campaign is to be conducted by the American Federation of Labor to unionize the 300,000 government employees, bringing as many as possible into existing unions and creating new unions for those whose line of work has not yet been unionized.

Safeblowers Drive Curious Away. Humphrey, Ark., Jan. 28.—Robbers dynamited the vaults of the Merchants and Planters' bank and escaped with $3,300 in cash. Guests of a nearby hotel who heard the explosions and started to investigate were forced back to their rooms by the robbers.
